

WHAT DID PR4 CONSIST OF?

1 National Training Sessions

Following the LTTA in Spain, youth mentors have trained other young people at national level, with the support of partners in each country, to develop entrepreneurial skills and to implement their green business ideas.

2 GREEN Factor Day

Nationwide events where young people publicly presented their own green business in the presence of stakeholders and experts. At the end, a jury awarded the best green business idea.

3 The Green Factor Replicability Guide for Youth Workers

It has two main objectives:

1. To empower youth workers with the knowledge and tools necessary to foster entrepreneurship in young people, through a structured framework of training sessions that enhance their entrepreneurial skills with a focus on environmental sustainability.
2. Promote the creation of green enterprises, innovative businesses that prioritise environmental preservation, social impact and sustainable practices. Through activities and workshops, the guide encourages young people to design businesses that benefit the planet and society.

This guide offers a variety of interactive activities, educational resources 📖 and examples of good practice that encourage creativity 🧠 and collaboration 🤝. Through practical workshops and inspiring messages, we seek to cultivate a new generation of leaders committed to protecting our planet 🌱☀️.

PROJECT MEETING

Last June, the final face-to-face meeting of the GREEN Factor project was held in Valencia (Spain), bringing together partners from Italy, Spain, Greece, Czech Republic and France. It was hosted by Kveloce, one of the Spanish partners.

The partners met and discussed the main achievements of the project, as well as the remaining tasks and the next steps until the closure of the project on 31 October 2024.

In this recent final meeting of the Green Factor project in Valencia, held on 11-12 June 2024, we had the opportunity to share great progress.

We started talking about the Replicability Guide for Young Workers, the last result of the project, whose content was finalised in English and, as a next step, we were talking about the design of the document and its translation into several languages in order to reach more people.

Another important point of the meeting was the organisation of the project multiplier events in each of the partner countries, which will take place before 31 October 2024.

The final meeting of the Green Factor project in Valencia was a significant milestone that allowed to reflect on the achievements and set a clear path towards the completion of the project. It reaffirmed the commitment of all partners in the dissemination of the results developed throughout the project and their involvement in the organisation and holding of multiplier events, ensuring that the project results reach a wider audience.

In addition, collaboration and communication were highlighted as key pillars for continued success, and the groundwork was laid for future interactions through the next online meeting.

This meeting not only celebrated past achievements, but also inspired renewed enthusiasm for the impact the project can have on youth communities.
